A Letter from the Editor

This year's MONTAGE presents a view of the University of Montevallo from a different angle. The faculty, students, organizations, and events of each of the four academic colleges are presented together, as a group.

The MONTAGE staff has tried to include more relevant "facts" in writing to help joggle your memory when the book is opened in future years. When trying to assess what a yearbook should be, we decided that this would help develop our book into something more than a picturebook.

The 1980 MONTAGE also includes photo essays on various topics such as student teaching, the computer center, things which happen on the quad, etc.

I hope that you enjoy the book.

Welcome to Flowerhill

Flowerhill, UM's Presidential residence, was first occupied in 1926 by President Oliver Cromwell Carmichael

Dr James F Vickrey became the eighth President to live in Flowerhill after extensive renovation of the building's interior

The structure of Flowerhill is basically the same as it was 54 years ago but the 1978 renovation changed its looks considerably

New furnishings for Flowerhill were selected to compliment the mansion's Georgian Colonial design The designers called the mixed use of Queen Anne, Chippendale and Chinese Chippendale styles of furniture Eclectic

Also, rugs in the downstairs rooms and wallpaper in the dining room were designed especially for Flowerhill

IN 62nd ANNUAL COLLEGE NIGHT

It's 32nd Victory for Purples

The University of Montevallo's College Night, one of the oldest college traditions in the state, once again pitted the Purples against the Golds in elaborate theatrical productions written by UM students.

This year's 62nd edition of College Night brought the Purple side its 32nd victory, their first win since 1977.

So far, it's been 32 wins for the Purples, 28 for the Golds, a 1919 win for the seniors and a tie in 1920.

This year's four-day extravaganza climaxed on Saturday night when a panel of visiting judges selected the Purple production "The Ballad of Saltpeter Flats," as winner of the annual competition.

The performances this year were dedicated to Mary Frances Tipton of the UM library staff, an alumna who headed the faculty-student committee which coordinates College Night.

It was the first time in the 62-year history of College Night that the annual performance had been dedicated to the same person twice.

More than 1,000 alumni returned to UM to participate in the Homecoming activities, which center around the final day of College Night.

College Night, Montevallo's strongest tradition, began when the school gained college status and was named Alabama College in 1919. Originally, four classes competed with a series of skits that followed a prescribed list of activities: a toast, poem, impersonation, stunt and song.

As the stunts evolved, each side took one of the school colors and focused their efforts toward writing, producing, and staging the best original show.

Visitors and students who see a College Night don't just see a performance, they witness an event, one former student said.

Each team, complete with crew, cast, mascots (purple cow and gold lion), cheerleaders, directors and team leaders, march into Palmer Hall all four nights to sing traditional team songs and yell traditional cheers. In the month before the shows, the teams compete in intramural sports events with women's and men's teams.

Even now it's not unusual to see a 60-year-old alumna yelling "PV" or "GV", for Purple or Gold victories.

Gold Production 1980

To the Valley of Chase or Long Live Hobindale?

Julie Ann Chilton plays the synthesizor for the Gold production.

John Archangeli as Allundone.

Keith Harrelson

The Gold production, "To the Valley of Chase, or Long Live Hobindale," with music and script by Doug Whitworth of Anderson, S.C., and directed by Greg Babb of Montgomery, was a futuristic fantasy rich in religious allegory.

Set in Hobindale, a free-floating space community whose people are torn between the universal myths of faith and hope on one side and greed and despair on the other, the good, represented in the person of Allundone, played by John Archangeli of Huntsville, is killed by Loozif, a devil-figure whose spirit enters the body of Jon, a young woman played by Lisa Corretti of Vestavia. The killing of Alundone rekindles love in the people of the community and in the Valley of Chase, their holyland, their idea of utopia.

Others in the Gold cast were Sharon Bradford Morgan of Huntsville as Howinleah, the community military leader; Richard Matthews of Marion as Gordo, the priest who has fallen into drunkenness because of the loss of faith in the community; Andrea Kloss of Birmingham as Della the fortuneteller; Booth Gunter of Wetumpka as Keat, a soldier concerned about the community; David Coker of Birmingham as a soldier; Greg Thomas of Moultrie, Ga., as Bashah, the top official in the community and others including Michele Frankenburg of Grand Bay, Judy Butler of Huntsville and Earl Goodwin of Birmingham.

Gold cast yells "We want him out?"

The Purple production, "The Ballad of Saltpeter Flats," was winner of the annual competition. Written by Brian Guder of Cleveland, Ohio, and directed by Michael Johson of Alabaster, the farfetched Western somehow mixes the traditional roles of women and men in the old West. The "bad guy," Ida, played by Tina Smith of Huntsville, and the pregnant "sheriff," Debra Yancy of Guntersville, were settling down to a fierce game of backgammon to settle their differences when the leader of a stable of local boys accidentally shoots and kills Ida. The local men seem to be around the saloon just to please the hard-drinking, gun-toting women that come to town.

Other cast members included Kevin Kilgore of Birmingham as Beefcakes, Brent Black of Columbus, Indiana, as Butch, Peggy Carden of Fort Payne as Gerdie, Ida's sidekick, Regina Harbour of Montevallo, as Mayor Luella Felch, and Susan Goodwin of Gardendale, as the deputy, Cameron Watson of Shelbyville, Tenn., as Stanley J. Wapinsky, the object of both the sheriff's and Ida's affections, and Barb Byham of Brewton as Velma Steely, a local nogood. The plot seems to ask where is the fun and adventure of the Old West.

Homecoming Attracts Alumni From Around U.S.

This year's alumni found several new features added to now traditional Homecoming-College Night — features like colorful welcoming banners, alumni art exhibition, new honor class "get togethers," and a cocktail reception for College of Business alumni.

During the Homecoming luncheon, Alumnus of the Year Dr. Mike Mahan of Brierfield was recognized, and Bill Latham of Clanton took the gavel as the new president of the UM Alumni Association. Neal Shirley of Birmingham stepped down after serving as president two years.

Alumni enjoy Homecoming luncheon.

DR. JAMES F. VICKREY, PRESIDENT

When Dr. James F. Vickrey, Jr. came to Montevallo three years ago, some students, faculty and staff wondered what UM would be like a few years later.

Some said that he was an ambitious young administrator who would only use Montevallo as a stepping stone to a more prestigious position at a larger university.

Many feared that he would be an impersonal administrative automaton.

The last three years have proven different.

Vickrey's dedication to UM can be understood only if one has followed in his footsteps for a few weeks.

He had a chance this past year to be considered for the President's chair at Auburn University but he quickly announced that he was not interested.

He gave a great amount of his time negotiating with state officials for adequate funds for UM programs and salaries. More, according to one official, than any other university president in Alabama.

And for those who have taken the time to get to know him, he has proven to be an empathetic man, concerned for the needs of UM students, faculty and administration personnel.

College of Fine Arts Is Leader

Dr. John Stewart, dean of the College of Fine Arts, says the departments of the college have a "tradition of excellence in the state of Alabama." The college includes the departments of Art, Music, Speech, Theatre and Mass Communication.

According to Stewart, some of the departments have gained regional or national notice.

"Pioneering efforts in forensics, theatre, speech therapy, and radio began as early as the 1920's," said Stewart. Also, the Art Department faculty have for many years been the most active in the state in producing quality work, and UM had the first accredited Music Department and the first Bachelor of Music degree in Alabama.

Stewart says the college tries to base a strong program of teaching on frequent involvement of students with their particular involvement in the arts. In addition, he said, the faculty of the college frequently engage in theater production, musical performance, and creative activities in the visual and performing arts.

Much of the productivity of the college is shared with the communities of the state, Stewart said. Each year theatre productions are carried to surrounding communities for performance.

SHE STOOPS TO CONQUER

"She Stoops to Conquer," a 19th Century Comedy, was the last production of UM's theatre department during the 1979-80 year.

W. T. Chichester of UM's speech and theatre department and Frank McCoy of the art department both displayed their talents by appearing in this presentation.

"Medea" cast members were Tina Smith, Heidi Miller, Matt Crowder, Brent Black, Michael Johnson, Cam Watson and Brian Guder.

Folk Art Shows at UM

The Alabama Folk Art Exhibit was one of the most popular exhibits of the year.

The exhibit was the result of a project of the Museum and Gallery Management class at UM according to Patricia Johnston, director of the art gallery at UM.

According to Johnston, folk objects are usually intended for use by a large segment of the population. "Often their primary function is utilitarian rather than aesthetic," she said.

The crafts selected for the exhibit, according to Johnston, fell into three categories. The first category includes baskets, furniture, pottery and musical instruments. The second group includes domestic crafts such as quilting and tatting. The third group consists of wood carving and folk carving.

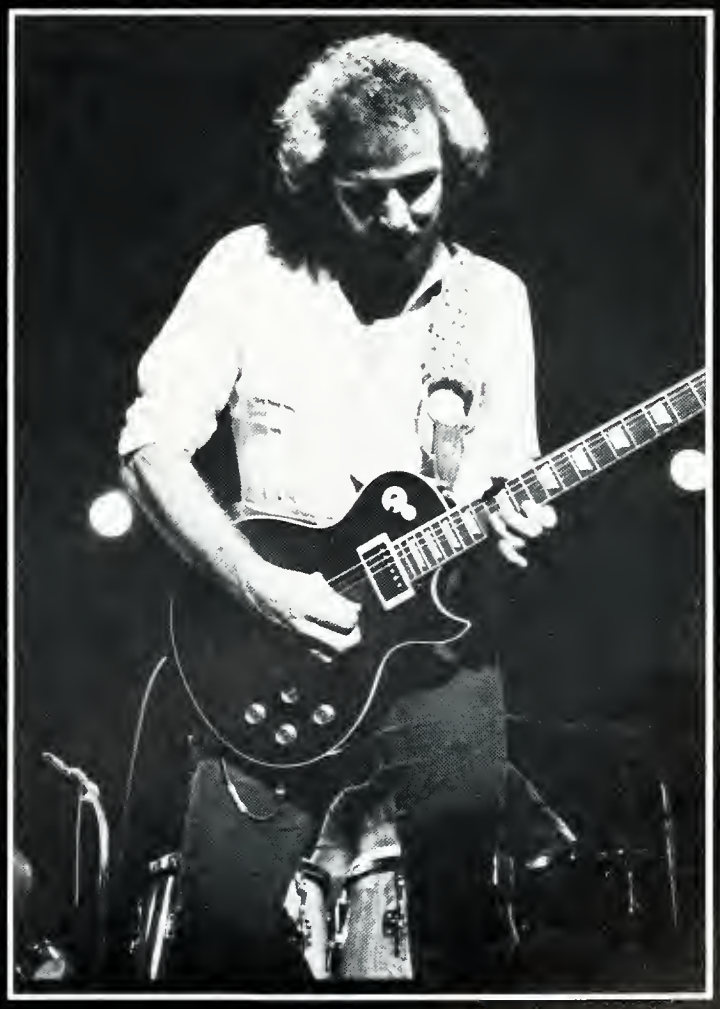
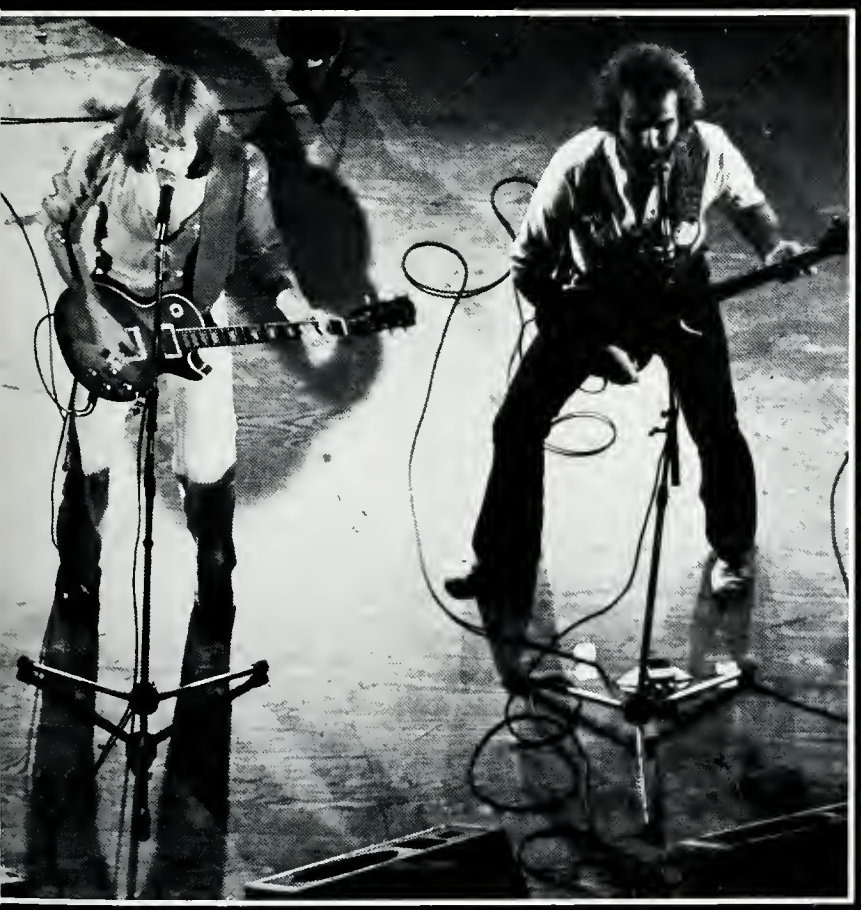
LOUISIANA'S LEROUX

The group had its beginning in Bogalusa, Louisiana, with keyboardist Rod Roddy, hornplayer Bobby Campo, drummer David Peters, and bassist Leon Medica. In 1977 Jeff Pollard joined the group as lead singer.

In 1978 the group added guitarist Tony Haselden and became known as Louisiana's LeRoux, In April 1978 the group released their debut album, "Louisiana's LeRoux."

They have recently released their second album "Keep The Fire Burning."





PAT TERRY

THE PAT TERRY GROUP PERFORMS IN MYRICK

Members of the group include Pat Terry, Sonny Lallerstedt and Randy Bugg, all natives of Georgia, who bring together the best in contemporary Christian music.

The Pat Terry Group sound is a mellow blend of folk ballad, country, blues and country rock. The group is able to achieve this unique sound by writing practically all their own songs.

MUSICAL

Above — Flo King plays Annie, who has been hired as a sharp shooter in a show. She is shown with the children of other performers in the show.

In 1776, Greg Thomas and Rebecca Luker play famous people of our nation's past in this musical scene about the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Company — In this scene, Brett Black plays the visitor of a couple on their anniversary. Their complaints about the pitfalls of marriage make their visitor glad that he is single.

UM Hosts National Tournament

NFA 80

Top: Students from the University of Wisconsin in Whitewater and Calumet College in Indiana try the SUB's "famous" hamburgers. They said it was snowing when they left the northern schools.

UM students Brenda Shadix, Susan Goodwin and Cindy Holmes give information about the tournament and UM to the approximately 850 participants.

Approximately 850 students from 120 colleges and universities around the nation flooded UM April 25-28. They were here for the National Forensics Tournament, a first for UM. The students, who stayed in hotels as far away as Clanton and Birmingham, seemed to enjoy their visit at UM. Almost every visiting student said something about UM's grounds which were in full bloom during their visit. Classes for UM students were released on Friday so that there would be enough room for the tournament, according to Dr. Bob Kunkle, director of UM's forensic team, and coordinator of the tournament. The students, most of whom could not return to their hotels during the daytime, made themselves at home on UM's grounds between competitions.

Students from Appalachian State College in Boone, N. C. and the University of North Carolina in Wilmington said they like to deal with anxiousness by playing spades.

"Our whole school could be put in your quad," said these students from Clark College in Atlanta. Here they practice their speeches as a group.

Business School Has New Dean

UM's College of Business is now under the leadership of a 36-year-old dean.

Dr. William Word came to UM the summer of 1979 and during his first year he has brought new attention to the College of Business.

Word, who came to UM from Shorter College in Rome, Ga., said when he came to UM that one of his goals would be to explore the possibility of accreditation for the college by the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB).

During the 1979-80 school year the college has been trying to meet the standards set by AACSB and the work load for students and faculty has increased. Business majors were seen more frequently in the library this year than in the past because of an increased number of term papers, according to one UM business major.

Word said that the college has been accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges of Schools for many years. However, Word said, "AACSB accreditation for UM's business programs would be in addition to Southern Association accreditation and would put UM's College of Business in a select national group of business schools."

Computer Center Keeps UM Running

UM's computer center was established in January of 1970. Two classes in computers were then being offered.

The center has expanded rapidly in the past year. The computer center has replaced an IBM 360 with a larger Berraeghs 1855 Computer. The computer center also contains several IBM keypunch machines.

The center does all of UM's data processing. This includes making all class cards, class rosters, university payrolls, grade reports and also keeping an alumni file.

Lott Named Dean of Arts & Sciences

Dr. John Lott was named dean of the College of Arts and Sciences this year.

Lott was appointed acting dean after the death of Dr. John B. Walters, who was dean of Alabama College and later Arts and Sciences since 1959.

Lott also joined the UM faculty in 1959 and was named chairman of the English Department in 1962. Lott earned his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees at Vanderbilt University.

The College of Arts and Sciences provides a general education for all students who enter UM as well as providing advanced liberal arts educational opportunities, according to Lott.

According to Dr. Russell Warren, UM vice president of academic affairs, Montevallo will continue to be a liberal arts school with a degree of quality. Consequently, the College of Arts and Sciences will most likely continue to have more students majoring in its programs than in any other UM college.

One UM administrator said it was good that Dr. Lott was named Dean because he not only has a deep understanding of current educational trends but also an understanding of UM's rich past.

SOCIAL WORK CLUB

The Social Work Club has existed on campus for approximately 10 years. It is primarily for Social Work majors but anyone who is interested may join.

Each year the club undertakes several service projects. During 1979-1980 the club helped raise money for the United Way and also made baskets for needy families at Thanksgiving.

FSP — Freshmen Are Introduced to New Aspects of Learning

Freshman Seminar Program is a program for freshman students that is composed of small discussion groups, (as in picture to the right), attending plays, concerts, exhibits, and lectures. The four scholars lectures were given by Dr. Van Tuyll, who spoke on philosophy; Dr. Cobb, who read and discussed one of his short stories; Dr. McCoy who gave a short lecture on "What is art?" and showed symbolism in different pictures; and Dr. and Mrs. Cowan who shared their piano duets.

Dancy Lectures 1980

Professor Martin J. Esslin

The Dancy Lectures were made possible through a bequest by Miss Unity Dandridge Dancy, of Morgan County, Alabama, honoring her mother.

When Miss Dancy started the Lectures in 1939, she stated that her gift was to "endow the Departments of English, Literature and Expression" at what was then Alabama College.

Her gift is used to support a series of lectures at UM every two years. Past Dancy Lecturers included Lewis Mumford, Dumas Malone, Russell Kirk and Joseph Campbell.

The 1980 Dancy Lecturer was Martin J. Esslin — translator, director, scriptwriter, drama critic, lecturer and professor of drama — who was born in Budapest, Hungary and educated in Vienna, Austria.

Professor Esslin's publications mark him as one of the prominent critics of contemporary theatre. The term "theatre of the absurd" was coined by Professor Esslin in one of his earlier publications, The Theatre of the Absurd..

Speaking to UM students on the general theme of "The Theatre and Society Today," Professor Esslin dealt with issues which concern the meaning and significance of theatre in our changing world.

Professor Esslin enjoys a lighthearted moment with Dr. Vickrey.

Professor Esslin fields questions from interested students.

UM'S Teacher Education Program Tops

The College of Education's primary role, according to Dean Bill Fancher, is to prepare students to be teachers, counselors and administrators for the public schools of Alabama.

A study directed by the Alabama State Board of Education gave UM's teacher education program the top ranking in the state, Fancher said.

The physical education department, which is recognized for its emphasis on lifelong activities, offers a variety of physical education courses for all students at UM.

Also, the college has one of the few traffic safety programs in the Southeast. In fact, the traffic safety program is ranked as one of the top three in the nation.

Faculty in the college are frequently requested to serve as consultants throughout the nation, and during the 1979-80 academic year the faculty has been developing new programs to meet new standards for certification for teachers.

Proposed new program offerings for the 1980 year are Early Childhood Education, Middle School Education and Health Education, Fancher said.

Physical Education Club

The University of Montevallo is proud to have an excellent Physical Education Club. The club is, in fact, the best club of its type in the state association. Last fall, the club received the Baugham Award to confirm this excellence.

The Physical Education Club is open to any major or minor who is interested in gaining pre-professional experience.

The P.E. club's 43 members and their advisors, Dr. Miriam Collins and Dr. Frank Lightfoot, have been involved in many different types of activities all year long. The club has participated in everything from a "Bounce-a-thon" (membership drive) to a trip to the State Legislature. They attended a District Convention in Nashville and had as speakers this year Dr. Baugham and Senator Proctor. They also had Halloween and Christmas activities.

UM's P.E. club is over 25 years old, and under the leadership of their officers has once again had a great year. The officers of the Physical Education Club are: President, Tommy Richardson; 1st Vice President, Anne Dawson; 2nd Vice President, Barbara Snider; Secretary, Patrice Armstrong; Treasurer, Toni Leo; Treasurer Elect, Juliet Crawford; Representative to AAHPERD, Candi Langston; Representative Elect, Cindy O'Brien; Social Chairman, Cindy Jones; Publicity Chairman, Van Nelson; Historian, Donna Stiers; Editor, Anna Hamel; Chaplain, Bob Parker.

The Student Teacher Program at UM requires that prospective teachers spend ten weeks acquiring classroom experience before they can be certified in education.

For some who plan to become teachers these weeks are a great shock. Theories of Education just don't seem to work.

Others enjoy the ten weeks thoroughly, and can't wait until they are in the classroom to stay.

Editors note — The day I chose to make pictures of student teachers just happened to be Track and Field Day at Montevallo Middle School and Play Day at Montevallo Elementary. Student Teachers do not get to wear shorts and play all day every day.

B. A student teacher clocks runners on Track and Field Day at Montevallo Middle School.
C. Coach Jeff Meyers calls roll.
D. This picture was staged. Although many student teachers want to do this and worse, it isn't allowed.

Montevallo improved its overall record to 9-8 this past week, while capturing first place in the annual UM Spring Classic. The title becomes the Falcons first out-right tournament crown in five previous years. Montevallo had tied for the title in 1976, but had never claimed sole possession until this year.

The Falcons captured first place with a 4-2 mark while Northern Kentucky finished second at 3-5 and Kentucky State finished at 2-4.

Montevallo opened the tournament losing to Kentucky State 14-13 in a game that featured plenty of offensive with little defensive displays.

Montevallo took the second game 7-2, swept Northern Kentucky three straight 8-0, 7-0 and 3-2, before losing the final game to Kentucky State 4-5.

U.M. players celebrate winning the Southern States Conference Championship.

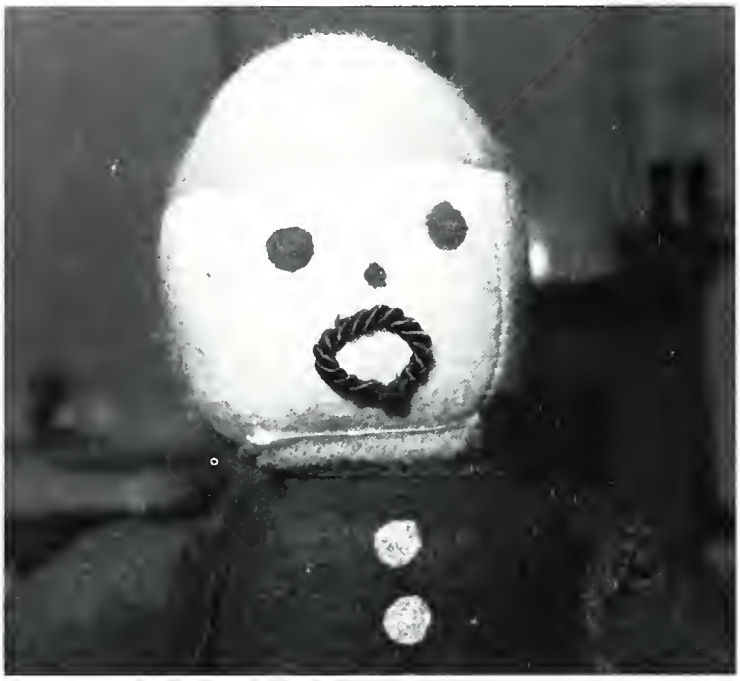
SENIOR MARCH

What Are Friends For?

I Change My Mind!!

Mr. Bill Visits UM. . .



Have you been studying hard for your finals, Mr. Bill? Oh yes I have; but I think I'll take a short break and drive for a pizza.

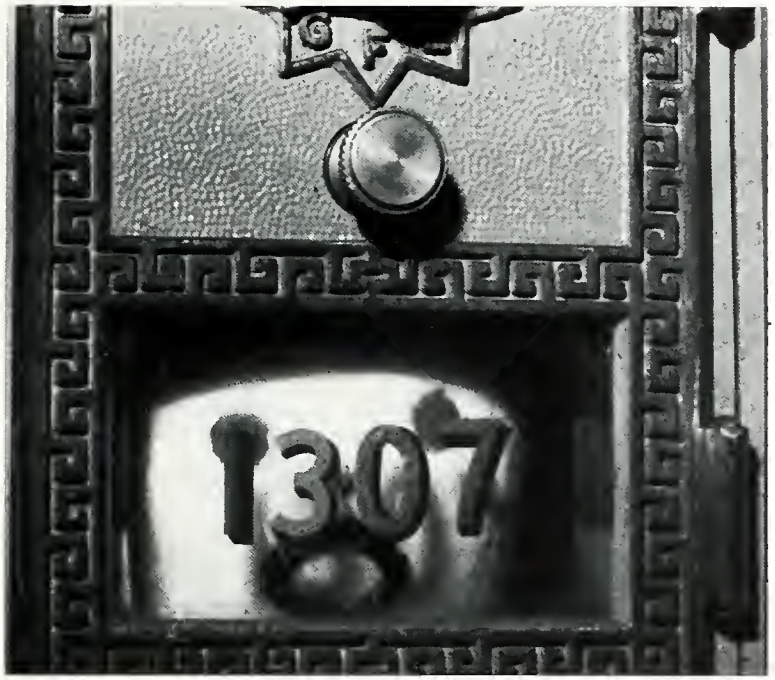
Why is the ticket on your car? "For parking next to a 'Faculty Only Sign'. "

Maybe you should walk instead Don't you just love Montevallo's rustic, cobblestone streets?

They're quaint, but you have to be careful of the holes in the sidewalk . . .

and the new constructiooooooooo —

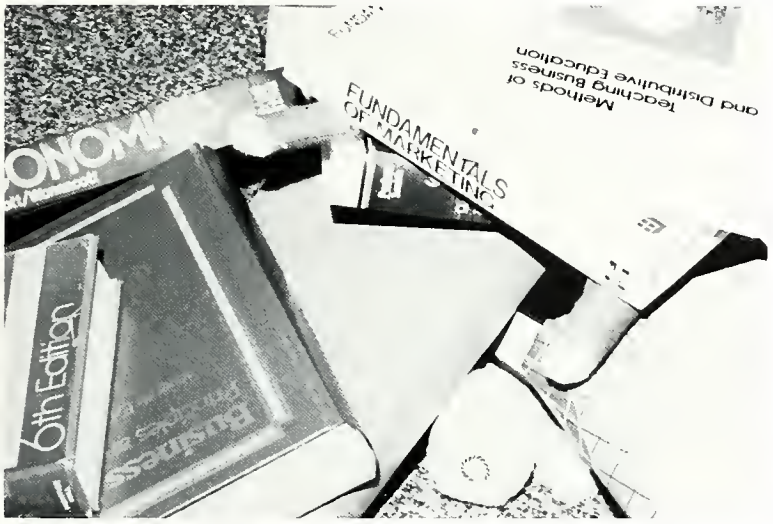
Oh, Noooooooo!



Why do you think they call it a P.O. Box?!

But wait a minute — we had that yesterday.

Let's go eat.



Time to get back to your studies, Mr. Bill. Here's your books.

Oh, noooooooo!

Palmer Renovation Causes Problems for UM Community

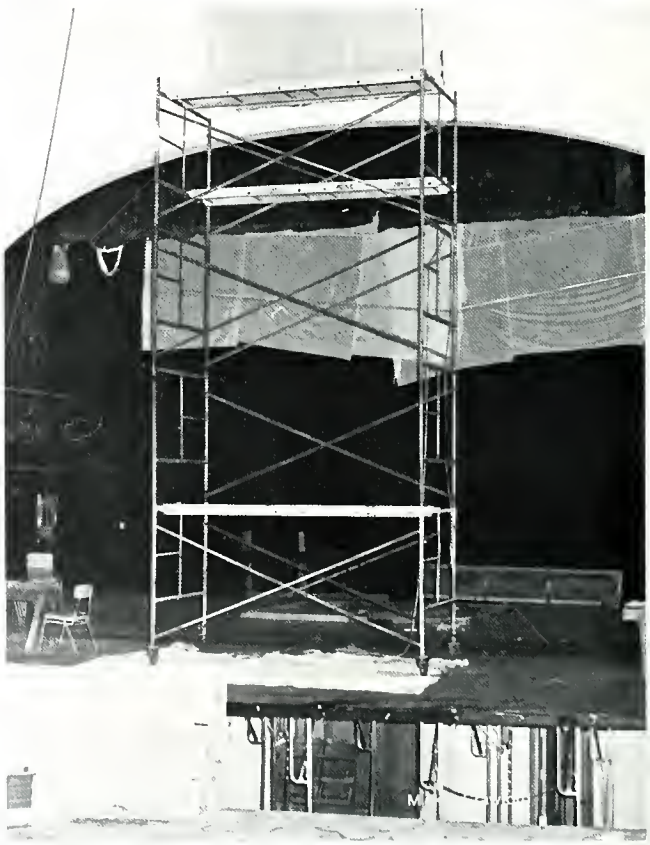
Students had to hold concerts on the campus lawn and Birmingham music halls. The Birmingham Symphony had to perform in Myric Gym.

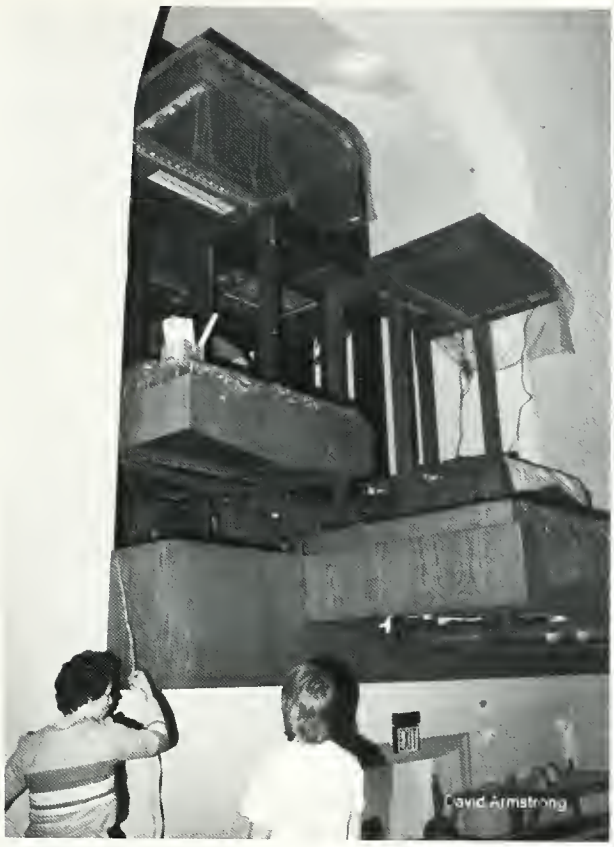
These were just a few of the inconveniences experienced by members of the UM community this year while Palmer Auditorium was being renovated.

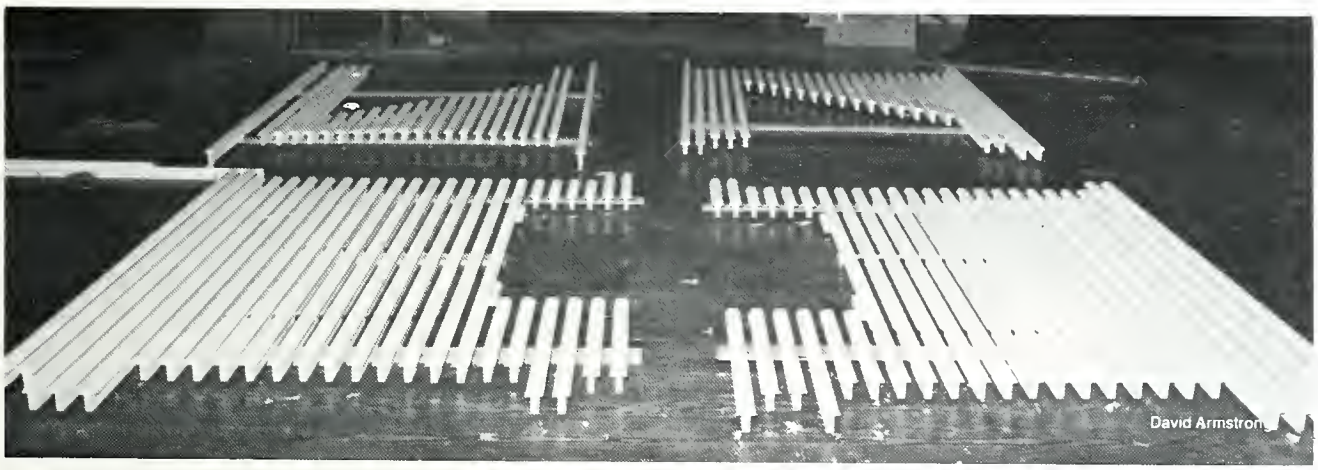
Three days before College Night activities began there were no seats in Palmer. But workers finished putting down seats and carpet in time for the opening curtain.

Also, only a few days after the final Purple and Gold cheers had been yelled, Palmer was shut down again for the installation of a new pipe organ.

It was a year of sacrifice but the finished beauty of Palmer with the added touch of the pipe organ made it worthwhile.







In the End It Was Well Worth It . . .

Little Sisters

On October 13, 1890, a group of eleven determined young law students founded the Delta Chi Fraternity at Cornell University, Ithaca, New York. In less than a century, Delta Chi has expanded to an international fraternity with seven chapters here in Alabama. The Montevallo Chapter had the honor of being granted a charter on October 13, 1972.

Our founders united themselves under certain common principles. These principles are set forth in the Preamble to our Constitution: . . . believing that great advantages are to be derived from a brotherhood of college and university men, appreciating that close association may promote friendship, develop character, advance justice, and assist in the acquisition of a sound education . . .

CHI OMEGA

U of M's Kappa Tau Chapter of Chi Omega Sorority has been active in pursuing all of their organizational goals this year. The Chi O's believe strongly in supporting the principles that protect the freedoms of the individual, and that are essential for maintaining a free society. The organization attempts to stimulate all Chi Omegas to appreciate the things in life that contribute to a finer culture.

The Chi Omega's have sixty-eight members. Thirty of these girls were gained in this year's rush. Pledges must display the purposes of the Chi Omega organization and maintain a suitable grade point average.

The Chi Omega sisters have been involved in numerous activities throughout the year. They had a Favorite Professor's Dinner both in the spring and the fall. They helped at the Speech and Hearing Clinic on Halloween, had a November Party, an Alumni Tea at Christmas, and helped with the Special Olympics Program. These are just a few of the varied activities that the Chi Omegas have contributed to this year.

Chi Omega has been loyally led this year by Susan Bush (president) and the following officers: Inez Thompson, vice president; Kathy Skinner, secretary; Donna Colbath, treasurer; Meg Witmer, personnel; Kathy Sappington, rush; Cynthia Blackburn, pledge trainer; Vandi Roberts, Panhellenic; and Jan Corbett, chaplain.

Indoor plumbing, a darkroom, heating and air conditioning were among the several luxuries enjoyed by the 1979-80 ALABAMIAN staff. The staff and average size of the ALABAMIAN also grew markedly over the past year. For the first time, the student newspaper was separated from the Student Government Association, thereby making the main responsibility of the student press to inform the students and eliminating any possible financial-pressure-censorship from the S.G.A., administration, or any other outside group.

The ALABAMIAN improved its layout design and widened its coverage area in news and entertainment as well as in sports, thus enjoying input from all over campus.

THE HELLHOLES AND PITFALLS OF REGISTRATION

In order for you, the U of M student, to register for this, the 1980 semester, you must comply with the following list of instructions.

A. Enter in through door O by means of corridor L. You may only proceed to do so at your prescribed time period.

B. Procure registration paraphernalia at desk J. and proceed to main registration room P.

C. Venture forth to the correct domicile of the preferred area of instruction. (ie, To procure The English 101 computer read out card, venture forth to table AD. Ask academic overseer for desired card. Repeat as often as necessary.)

All students report to battle stations!

Dr. Milton Mayfield, director of continuing education, and Larry Peevy, director of admissions, discuss new methods of registration torture.

I wonder if this is Obedience 101.

BLOOD DRIVE IS SUCCESSFUL AT UM

Circle K sponsored their annual blood drive November 15, 1979. Many UM students and faculty members gave their blood to the American Red Cross, and enjoyed Cokes and cookies after giving. Blood donors also received a button that said "Be nice to me, I gave blood today," or one that said, "I put out!"

Waldheim still hopeful plan will free hostages

By The Associated Press

United Nations Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim says he hopes a plan devised during his visit to Iran will lead to the release of the American hostages in Tehran. But the Iranian militants holding the Americans still insist the deposed shah must be returned before the hostages are freed.

Gold, silver still at it in Europe

LONDON (AP) — Gold hit $845 an ounce in Zurich today, equaling the record set in European trading Friday. London silver prices, riding the coattails of the bullion boom, rose to a record $50 an ounce from $49 at Friday's close.

The U.S. dollar firmed against all major European currencies, except for the strong British pound.

At midday, gold bullion was quoted at $845 in Zurich, Europe's main gold market. London's five major bullion dealers fixed the price for the morning trading session at $843.

The metal closed Friday at $840 in Zurich and $835 in London.

It hit a record high of $838.78 in Hong Kong trading today, but fell back to close at $827.78 in the Far Eastern market.

New Mexico's weekend prison riot murder toll may be worst in history

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — With New Mexico's only maximum-security prison in smoking ruin — and at least 32 prisoners dead from a rampage in which one was beheaded and others mutilated beyond recognition — officials pleaded with other states for help in housing inmates.

The riot was the nation's worst since a bloody confrontation at New York's Attica state prison in 1971 left 43 men dead. When the final toll is known, it could be the worst in U.S. history.

The Speech and Hearing Center is the practicum site for speech pathology and hearing impaired majors. A center of this kind is unique in the southeast, and it is the primary service center for Alabama.

Ongoing diagnostic services for children with speech, language, and hearing problems are conducted, as well as therapeutic intervention. Services are provided for residents, day students, and outpatients.

Facilities include special classrooms for learning disabled children, and a preacademic classroom for hearing impaired children. Many students with severe language problems are mainstreamed from public schools around Montevallo, and they receive help in an academic setting at the Center. Because many clients come from areas all over the state, a resident center is available for children ages 4-16.

Another program is the Alabama Aphasia Clinic which is sponsored by the Scottish Rite Foundation of Alabama.

The Center also has programs available for their adult clients, some over age 80. These adults are tested for hearing abilities, while other therapy is available for persons who have had strokes.

A Student Assistant's Unhappy lot.

To those of you who don't know what a student assistant is, let me tell you. We are the few, the proud, the brave (believe me, very brave), that work at Oliver Cromwell Carmichael Library. And to those of you who don't know what our job is I will tell you.

First it is our job to shelve books, help students who need our assistance (thus the name student assistant), check out books for you at the Circulation Desk, and magazines at the periodicals desk. We also get to help those students that come in asking for that book they used last week, "you know the one about so big, with a red cover?"

When a student first applies for a job on campus most look forward to their assignments. Student assistants did. (Notice the past tense). Boy, were we in for a let down. A student assistant's job is about one step up from slavery. We do all the little things that keep it running smoothly. (Don't let the librarians fool you, they may have the education but we have the backbone). Most of you at one time or another, have gone into the library and seen a student assistant pushing a booktruck loaded with books on it. We are doing that most dreaded job of all, "shelving". When you check out a book, use it, and then return it, it does not automatically recard itself and jump back on the shelf in the correct place. A student assistant has to recard it, double checking to make sure the card matches the book, then when we've got enough books of a certain section, for example, the 300's, we go shelve. Sounds easy doesn't it?

When a student assistant gets his job he is told to report to Mrs. Jean Edwards at the library (specifically, the circulation desk). The circ. desk is where you check out your books, also records, headphones and reserve books (and all those dirty books you like to read but you want everyone to think you need them for a class).

When you first meet Mrs. Edwards you are told to fill out your class schedule so she can help you figure out your work schedule. Most student assistants work an average of 10 hours a week. If you're lucky, you can choose one of them all by yourself. Being that the library is open 7 days a week, you have many choices for when to work but not much say.

But back to Mrs. Edwards, and the circ. Desk. There are those of us who are known at the library as "old workers" — those of us who've stuck it out for at least a year. We have a little more to say about our schedule than do the new workers. We get all the best hours (most of the time) and we get to refer to Mrs. Edward's as "Miss E". It is an honor and a privilege when you can finally get to do that and you know you have finally become a full-fledged old worker.

A beautiful May afternoon and Flower Hill, UM's president's mansion, was the setting for graduation on May 10th, 1980. Graduation exercises followed a luncheon which honored graduates and their families.

James E. Jacobson, editor of the Birmingham News was guest speaker. In his speech he told graduates "Don't let the gloom mongers cause you to leave Montevallo with a sense of foreboding about the future. Rather, leave not only with the hope but the expectation of success in whatever field you choose to pursue."

Approximately 280 undergraduate and graduate degrees were awarded during the ceremony.

Winners of President's Scholars Awards for highest grade point averages in each of UM's four colleges were Rebecca Davenport, College of Arts and Sciences; Karen Kelly, College of Business; Terri Ricks, College of Education; and Robert Ivey, College of Fine Arts.

Winners of the Algernon Sydney Awards, the university's highest student awards went to Miss Kelly and to David Richardson.

Below left: Empty chairs were filled until there was standing room only for the guests who attended graduation.

Left: Speaker James E. Jacobson urged the UM graduates to take a continuing interest in the well-being not just of the University of Montevallo but of all of Alabama's educational institutions.

It was almost 38 years ago that Allen Dale of Montevallo began going to college. And May 10, 1980, she graduated from UM with her bachelor's degree in social sciences. In 1942, she began her studies at New Mexico Teachers College. Now, eight children and ten grandchildren later, she's a college graduate.

Winners of the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award during UM's spring commencement were Karen Kelly of Montevallo and Dave Richardson, who was also commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force during ceremonies at the graduation. The Sullivan awards recognizes top students for leadership, character and scholarship. Miss Kelly was also named a President's Scholar for having the highest grades in the UM College of Business.

The 1980 Montage staff set goals to cover events relevant to the majority of UM students, and to include individuals from every campus group. We hoped to produce a yearbook which reflects the events, moods, and history of the University of Montevallo from fall registration 1979 to spring graduation 1980. This has been a high aim, but we the Montage staff do hope that we have succeeded in producing an annual that will spark the memories of your college days through the years to come.

I would like to express my appreciation to those who have contributed to the 1980 Montage. My deepest gratitude is extended to Tom Seale, business manager, who did his own job superbly and helped me at every opportunity. I owe a special thanks to David Armstrong, copy editor, Darrell McCalla, head photographer, and the other photographers for their long hours and patience. This year we had a well qualified staff with whom I enjoyed working.

I thank Gail Chion and Bill Plott, our publication advisors for their invaluable assistance in planning the Montage. Also, I thank the Board of Publications for their constant support.

Special thanks to Keith Harrelson for providing us with needed photographs, Blair Cash for sports information, Janice Golojuch for photographs and artwork, and Anita Tucker, past editor, for experienced advice.

I have enjoyed the opportunity to represent the students of the University of Montevallo through this publication.
